

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention provides a method for forming a ferroelectric thin film that is uniform and good in crystallinity.

5 The method includes applying a liquid to a surface of a substrate.

The liquid includes ultra-fine particle powder comprising at least one element constituting the ferroelectric thin film to a surface of a substrate. The liquid applied to the surface of substrate is then baked.